The image contains a page of text which appears to be in Thai. Due to the language and lack of context, it is challenging to provide a natural text representation without understanding Thai script and syntax. It seems to be a form or a message, potentially related to a website or a service, given the mention of a website URL at the end: `website: www.thairheumatology.org`. If you need assistance with Thai content, please specify your needs.